Open Ended Questions - Examples and Suggestions

What has this professor done especially well in teaching this course?

I really like the fact that Christine is very interesting and open about everything. She uses her own real life examples to explain certain topics that need to be covered. It gives me relief to know what we're learning will be used in the real world.

Making everyone feel comfortable

Professor Cummings is an enthusiastic, dynamic, and well organized teacher. She exhibited great compassion toward me when I experienced another mild stroke during the semester by allowing me additional time to turn in assignments. With this accomodation and caring spirit, my recovery was much quicker. This also fostered a more personal and safe environment, while allowing me the option to leave my video off during online class times. Professor Cummings also encouraged me with professional guidance as I continued to complete assignments, especially our major one requiring a monologue.

Very detailed about each subject. Engaging and active. Does her best to create interaction and engagement amongst students despite the class being only online.

Acting should be done face to face in a classroom. Covid happening was out of her control.

At this time, I do not see a need for improvement in this course or class interactions.

I don't think there is much to improve. I really enjoy this class which is not something I can say about most classes because I hate zoom meeting. However Christine has made it such a welcoming experience and I'm always excited to go to her class because I know it's not going to be boring.

I feel like we should do more smaller side assignments using the book!

I think everything has been good. Students are able to share and interact in class, as well as through our assignments, such as flipgrids, which allow the students to connect.

Maybe a group or partnered project here or there?

more group activities in break-out rooms?

Thank you Professor Cummings for your compassion and understanding with me as I recover from y stroke. I have thoroughly enjoyed this class and believe were it not for your accommodations, I would have had to drop due to my medical issue. I am now able to graduate in June and move forward to university and continue my academic goals.

You are by far my favorite professor this semester and I truly wish all of my professors were as kindhearted and courteous as you.
